Port Lincoln will play host to some of our State and nation's best sailors this month, with registrations now open for the Lexus of Adelaide Bluewater Classic, February 22 to 24, and Lincoln Race Week, from February 25 to 28. Celebrating its 59th anniversary, the Bluewater Classic is a 156 nautical mile race in which skippers and navigators compete in keelboat and multihull classes in either racing or cruising divisions. More than 90 boats are expected to participate in the Classic, which should provide a magnificent sight for spectators who can watch the start from one of the many vantage points along the Esplanade between Semaphore and North Haven. The festivities will then continue during Lincoln Race Week, when sailors of Sportsboats, Trailerables, J24s and Etchboats take to the waters around Boston Bay for the State's largest keelboat regatta.
